Trump Signs Nearly 100 Executive Orders on First Day, Declares Major Policy Shift

Donald Trump, beginning his second term as U.S. president, signed nearly 100 executive orders on his first day in office, signaling a sweeping overhaul of U.S. policy.

The orders issued on Inauguration Day highlight the new policy direction of the Trump administration's second term, which is expected to have a significant impact on the U.S. economy and the global trade order.

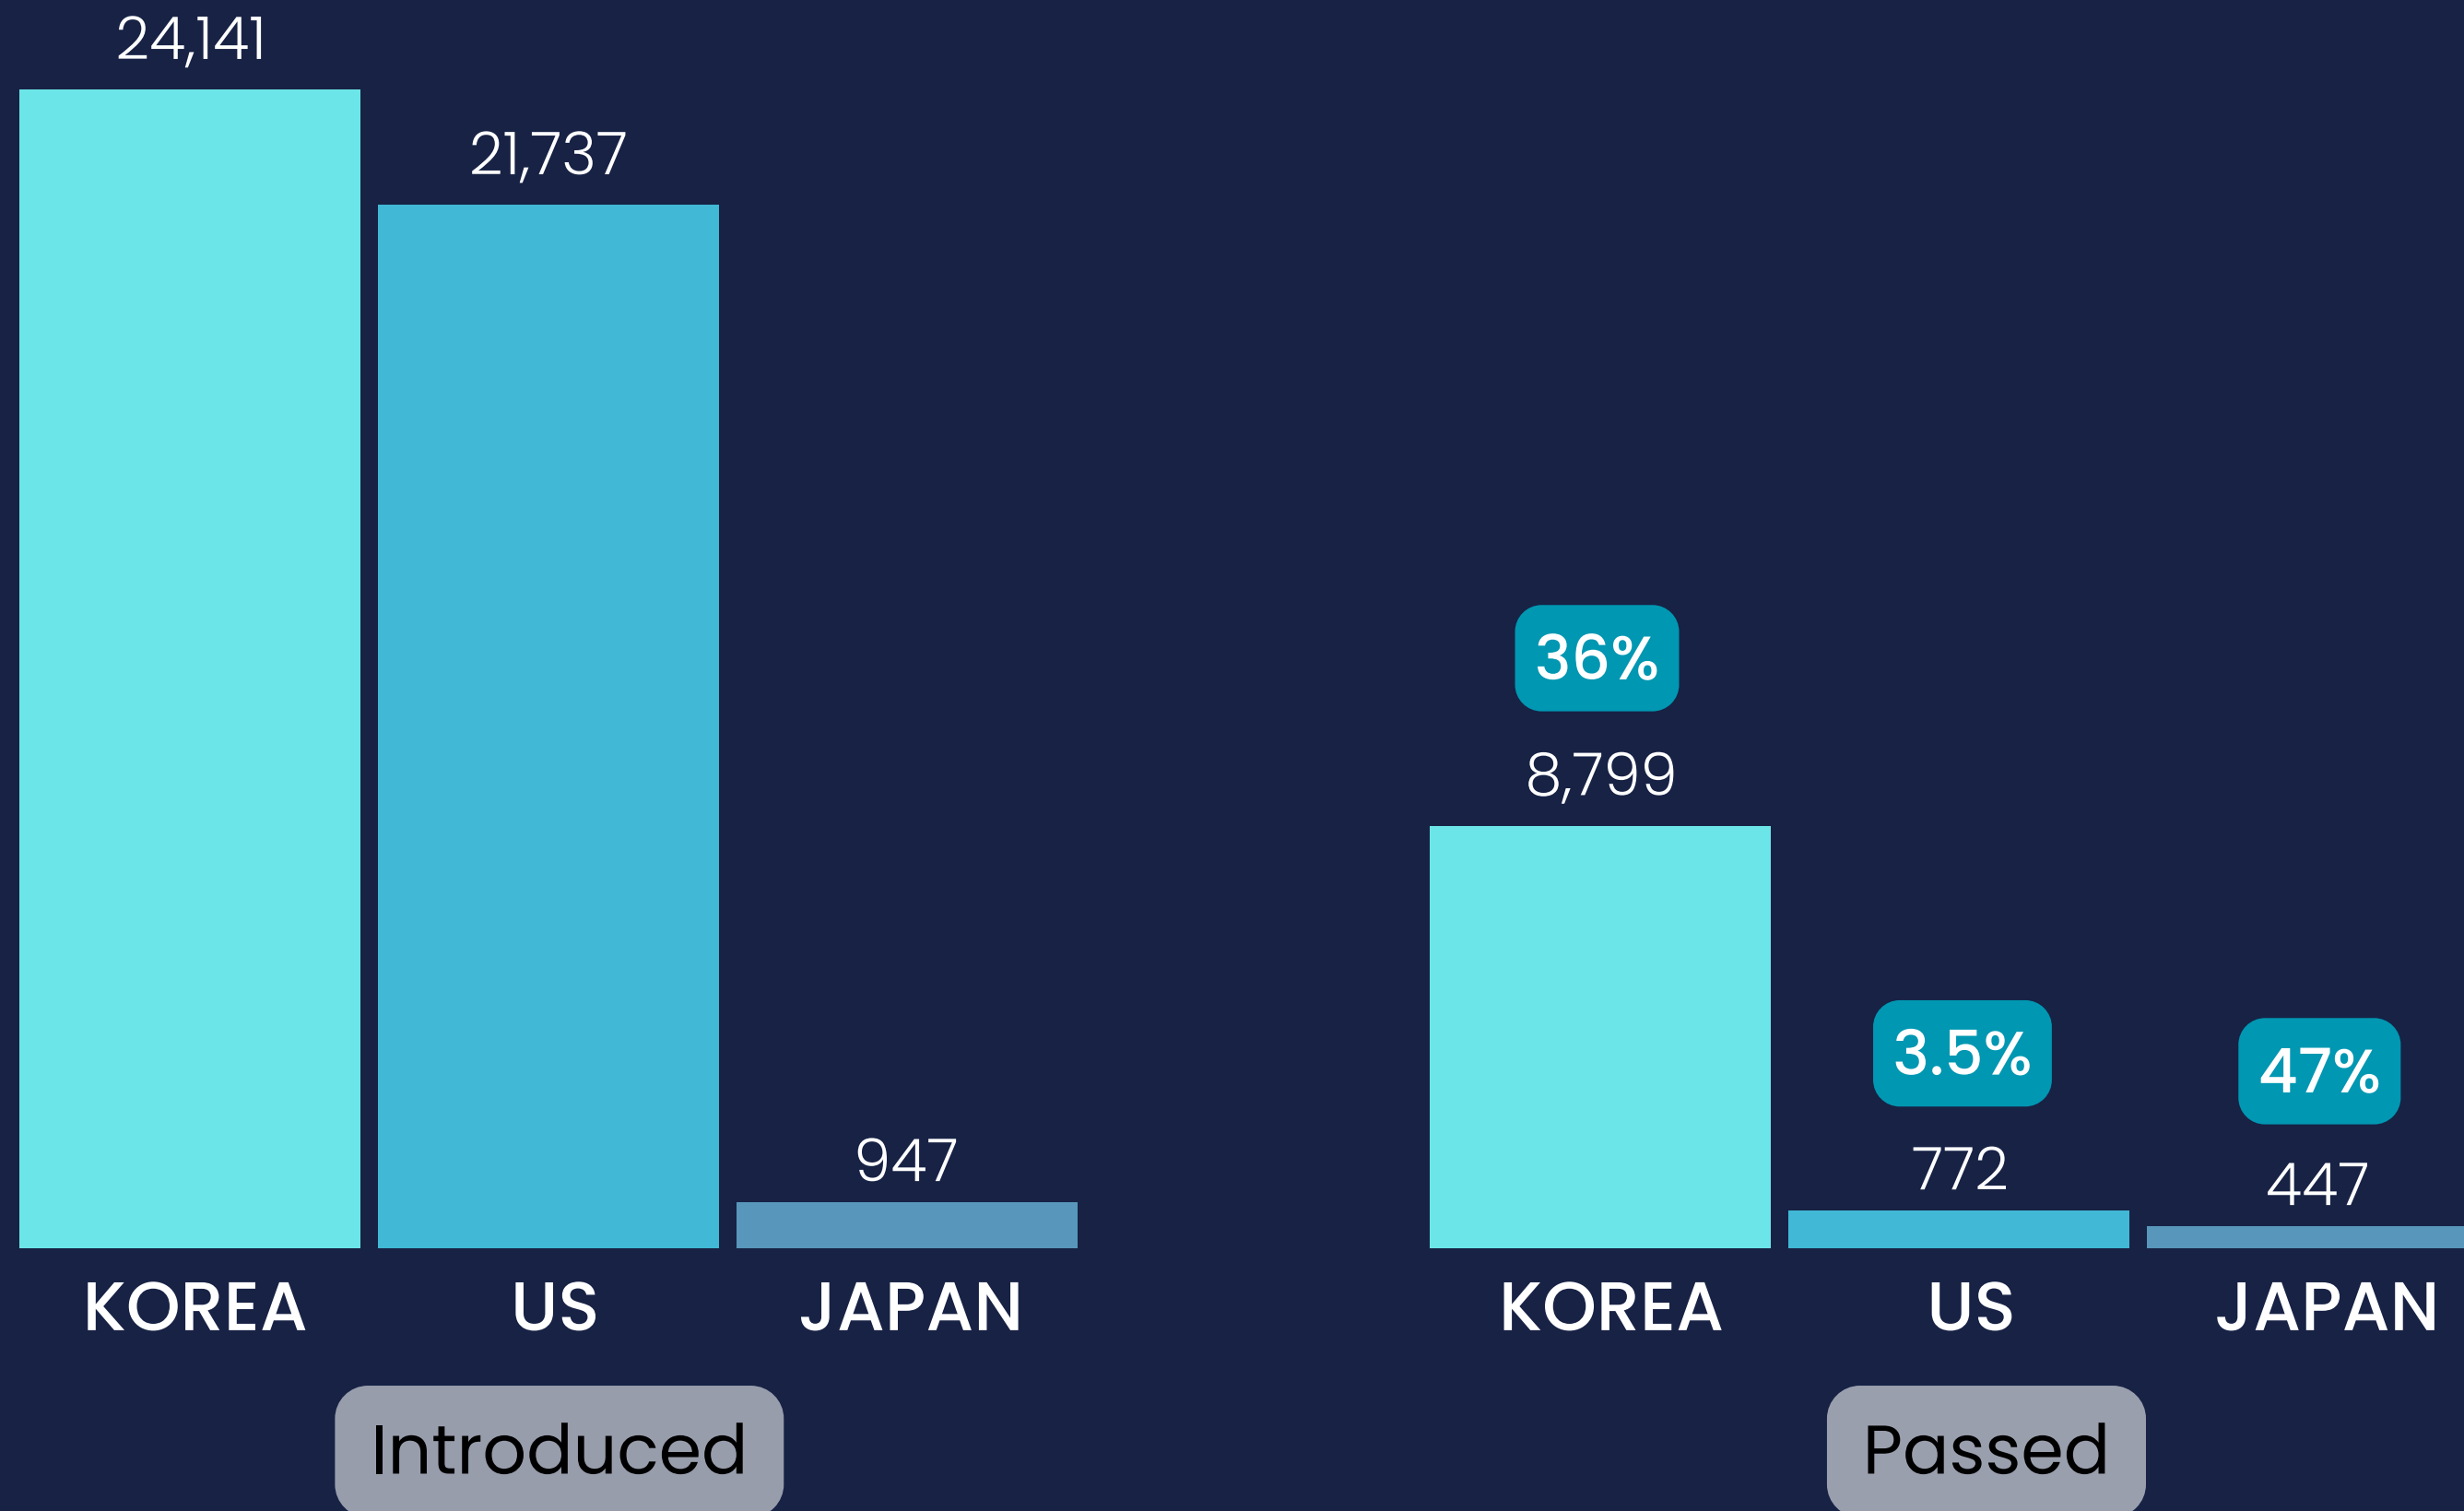

Domino Strikes in Auto and Shipbuilding Industries... Repercussions Against the "Yellow Envelope Act"

Amid mounting pressure from U.S. tariffs, Korea's key export industries in autos and shipbuilding have come to a standstill as unions at Hyundai Motor and HD Hyundai Heavy Industries launched partial strikes.

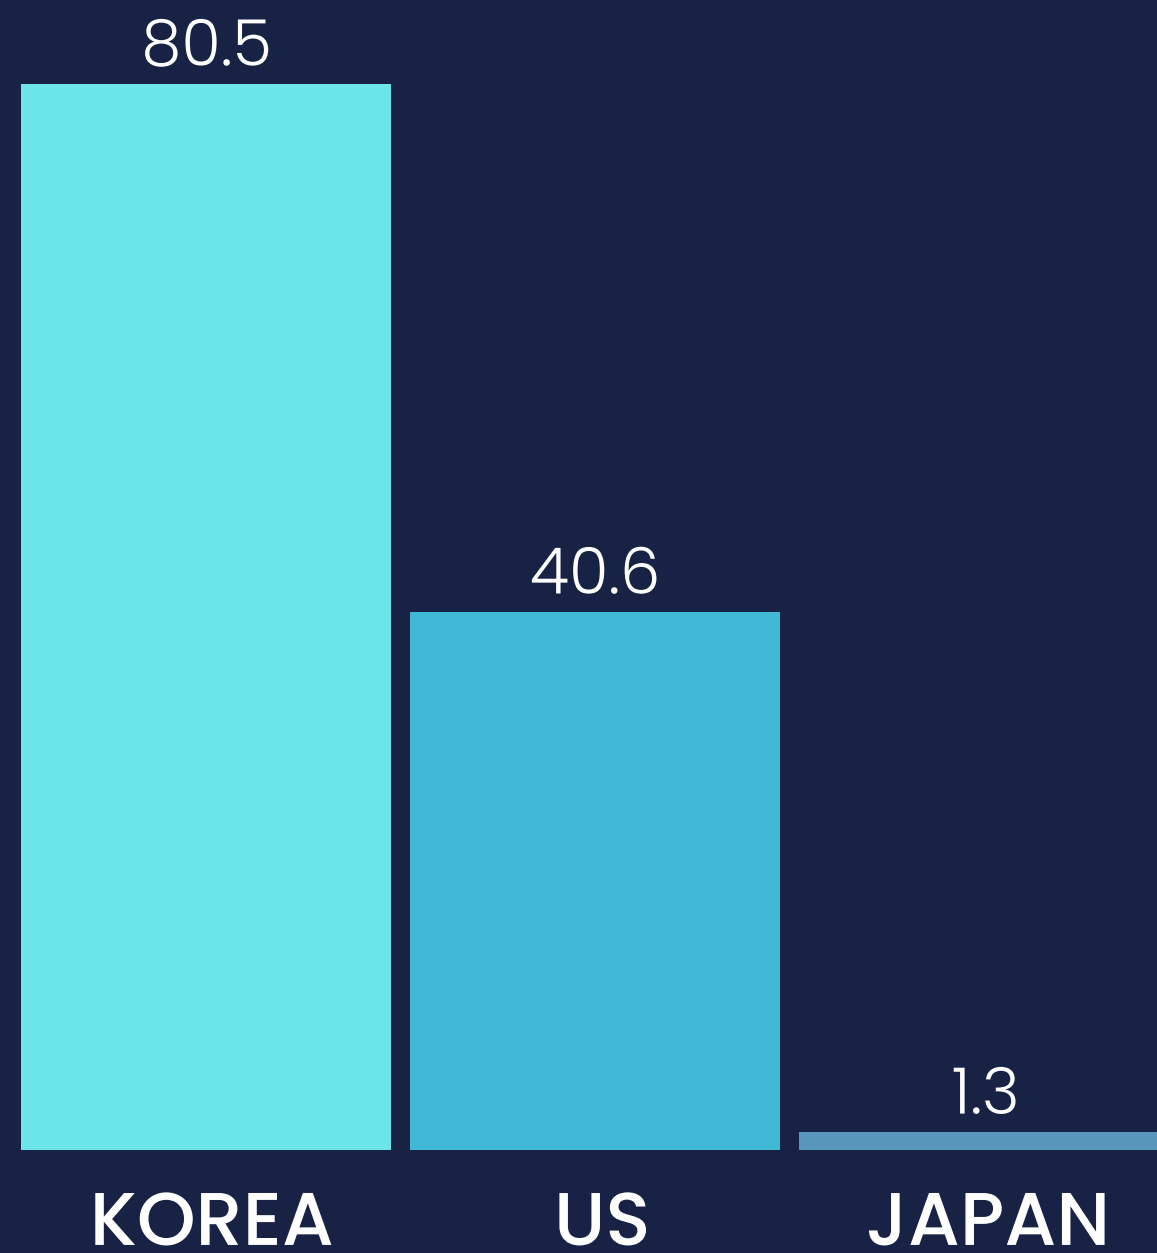

The situation has further escalated with the recent passage of the so-called Yellow Envelope Act in the National Assembly, fueling intensifying labor-management conflicts.
